

DRS 2012: Bangkok

Call for Papers

Design Research Society 2012 International Conference

Title

DRS 2012: Bangkok

Venue

Chulalongkorn University,
Bangkok, Thailand

Dates

1-4 July 2012

The Design Research Society 2012 International Conference (DRS 2012: Bangkok) is pleased to invite proposals for research presentations in Thailand. This conference is open to research that deals with any aspect and discipline of design.

While DRS 2012: Bangkok does not have an exclusive theme, the committee welcomes papers that address notions of 'Re:Search : uncertainty, contradiction and value' in contemporary design research, education and/or practice. Issues that might be addressed include: creativity and the institutionalization of design methodologies; design science; design in the academy and the so-called creative economy or creative industry; sustainability versus commodification; criticality and culture; conflicting definitions of design and designer in the contemporary world; design and ethics; individuality, the disciplinary and social contexts; exchange value and surplus value; and absolute values versus relative values. These themes sit alongside the areas covered by the four DRS Special Interest Groups - EKSIG (Special Interest Group on Experiential Knowledge); SIGWELL (Special Interest Group on Health and Wellbeing); SiGPED (Special Interest Group on Design Pedagogy); OPENSIG (Special Interest Group for Objects, Practices, Experiences, Networks) which will be represented at the conference in distinct strands chaired by the SiG conveners.

Timetable

1 September 2011		Deadline for abstracts
1 October 2011		Abstracts accepted
1 December 2011		Deadline for full papers
10 January 2011		Papers accepted/ revised
7 February 2012		Deadline for full paper corrections
30 March 2012		Deadline for author registration
1 July 2012		Conference Opens

Abstracts

In the first instance, you are invited to submit an abstract of no more than 800 words that addresses any aspect of design research, education or practice. All submissions will be peer-reviewed by members of DRS review committee. Please indicate in your abstract if you consider that it relates to any of the Special Interest Groups.

Abstracts are required to be in English and clearly describe the context of your research, questions and hypotheses to be addressed, research methodology and findings and conclusions. Please include bibliographic references and indicate whether the intended paper or presentation is for completed research or work-in-progress. Images are not requested at this time. Detailed instructions on how to submit your abstract and a link to the electronic submission system will be available on the conference website <http://drs2012bangkok.org/> on 1 June 2011 for your submission.

Papers

Authors of accepted abstracts will receive an invitation to submit full papers. Received papers will be double blind reviewed by members of the international scientific review panel which includes the convenors of the Special Interest Groups. This invitation will be accompanied by reviewers' remarks and suggestions. Full papers should be between 3000-5000 words. Papers are required to demonstrate originality.

This is a general design research conference and it is expected that a wide variety of work-in-progress or finalized projects will be reported. However, irrespective of the range and stage of your research, the organisers expect the highest standards of scholarship in terms of establishing context, explicating the methods of inquiry, and reporting results that may aid other researchers or practitioners.

Proceedings from the conference will be published digitally. Please see the conference website <http://drs2012bangkok.org/> for detailed guidance about submitting a full paper.

Authors of accepted papers will be invited to present their work at the DRS 2012 Bangkok. Each presentation will last 20 minutes and be followed by 10 minutes of questions and/or discussion.

Review Group

The proceedings editors and our international review group are listed on our website.
